

During my time on the Fort Wayne campus, I have received scores of letters, comments and e-mails reminding me how much this campus means to so many alumni. Recently, unknown alumni even "decorated" the Fort Wayne campus sidewalks and sign with chalk messages, posters and a special outfit for Samuel Morris, announcing their loyalty and memories of their time in Fort Wayne. Thousands have had their minds and hearts touched and transformed here.

Our alumni are part of something The Rev. J. E. Ramseyer, one of our founders and an administrative leader for 33 years, called "A Vine of God's Own Planting." The "Vine" has wrapped around the hearts of students coming from or serving afterwards in more than 80 countries around the world during the past 100+ years, and this is cause for celebration.

Dr. Jared Gerig, author of "A Vine of God's Own Planting," wrote, "What began (100+ years) ago as an insignificant, small-town Bible school has grown in size and influence to become a leader...its influence through the spiritual ministries of its graduates has literally reached the ends of the earth."

We are at a crossroads. Will "the Vine" die, or will it keep growing? I feel "the Vine" only dies if we, the "branches," stop reaching out to our world in need. Taylor University is committed to engaging and caring for alumni to encourage them to minister Christ's redemptive love and truth to a world in need.

With this in mind, I encourage you to stay connected in the weeks and year ahead to "the Vine" through the newly created Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center. Currently, we're located in Brown Gables. But June 1, 2010, we will relocate to the Lillian Rolf House, 915 W. Rudisill Blvd., adjacent to the historic Fort Wayne campus, just east of Witmer Hall. Please continue to keep us in your prayers as we look ahead to see what God is going to do. In 1 Kings 17: 1-7, God sent Elijah to a brook and promised to provide for him, but then the brook dried up. Notice a similarity here? However, God provided a dying widow to provide for him again. We serve the same God who will provide tomorrow in ways we cannot see today.

by Lauren M. Peltier cs09 & Michael D. Mortensen g91

God has always been mysterious.

Even the founders of the Fort Wayne campus were confused and disillusioned as they sought a site on which to build the school. Their search, which took place during the summer of 1904, encompassed three cities and many locations. The quest became so discouraging that three of the six co-founders temporarily gave up.

The final site to be examined was beyond the reach of the city's street car and utilities. One has to wonder: were the remaining founders—Rev. J.E. Ramseyer, Rev. D.Y. Schultz, and Mr. William Egle—filled with despair? Did they question their vision or doubt God would provide?

Though sorely tested, the founders' faith and vision did not fail to bear fruit. Nourished by faith and watered by grace, the Fort Wayne campus took root. In the century to follow, the school yielded a harvest of spiritual bounty beautiful to the city of Fort Wayne, the nation, and the world.

Tender Seeds...

Through the decades, the Fort Wayne campus' students and faculty have held one thing in common: the desire to love and serve the Lord better. The school's purpose has always been training God's people as planters of the Gospel. This training was both academic and spiritual. With the seed of God's love germinating in their hearts, alumni have spread that same seed across the world touching over 80 countries.

Seeing so many youth graduate prepared for ministry ranks among Cyril Eicher's g32, dean of students for 15 years, most memorable experiences on the Fort Wayne campus. "A lot of them came with a real commitment to the Lord," Cyril said, "and went out fully committed to their work."

Cyril's experience as a student also greatly impacted him. Seventy-eight years after his graduation, Cyril still remembers the "profound influence" the Rev. Ramseyer and the school's faculty had on him.

Bethany Bible Institute founded by B.P. Lugibihl. The Rev. J.E. Ramseyer was the first principal.

1904 Summer

The Missionary Church Association appointed a committee to search for a new location for the school.

Dr. Sharon Ayabe g86 chose the Fort Wayne campus because she longed to attend a school where she would receive “a lot of Bible.” Sharon was a youth director when she realized her gifts of ministry and administration, while useful, were not yet solidly founded on biblical knowledge.

Though she came to the campus hoping to be a better youth leader, she eventually felt God leading her in another direction – a call to missions. “I learned about the many, many workers in America and the few who were willing to serve overseas,” Sharon said. Since her time on the Fort Wayne campus, Sharon has declared the Gospel in Asian, European, Hispanic, and Middle Eastern countries.

For the Rev. Todd Habegger g76, it was his mission experience with Venture for Victory that shaped his calling to ministry. “When I came to the Bible College, I was not sure I was going to be in vocational ministry,” Todd explained. “While I had a gnawing sense I was being called into ministry, I was not sure that was what I wanted to do. Once I got a taste [of ministry] on two trips to Africa and saw the caliber of the guys, I had a whole new view, and I saw ministry as a higher calling.”

Todd shared his thanks for Coach Steve Morley g65, who “understood ministry.” “We were more than just basketball players,” Todd explained. “We went out as a team with the cheerleaders on Sunday nights around Northern Indiana and Ohio to share testimonies and to meet various kinds of people.” These times provided valuable experience in ministry preparation.

Meghan Menchhofer g09 was one of several Fort Wayne campus students pursuing “Incarnational Ministry,” an intentional day-in-day-out kind of ministry focused on living among the lost. Meghan and several other female students lived in an apartment complex populated by Burmese immigrants. As someone eager to live out the Great Commission, Meghan chose the Fort Wayne campus because she knew the school “had a really good biblical foundation.”

Like Fort Wayne students before her, Meghan and her contemporaries continue sowing the seeds of faith in Fort Wayne.

Living Roots ...

Though the Fort Wayne campus has underwent many changes since its founding, its students, faculty, staff and alumni have always been passionate about pursuing the lost for Christ. According to Cyril, “there hasn’t been much change to the mission of the campus,” even during his 80 year association with the campus.

Heedless of boundaries, Christian ambassadors have gone out into every corner of the city. “A lot of students took their Christian/community service projects very seriously,” Sharon said. “Not just because it was mandatory, but because they felt they could change the city.”

In the last few years, Fort Wayne campus students helped raise money to build a playground, mentored the children of inmates, ministered to Burmese refugees, raked leaves in the neighborhoods, and worked as interns in social service agencies and churches.

Fort Wayne Mayor Thomas C. Henry enthusiastically spoke of the campus’ impact on the city. “They made a real concentrated effort in working with the inner city and Southeast Fort Wayne and those areas where there was a tremendous need for additional help for a percentage of our citizens who were not only poor financially, but suffered mentally, in some cases suffered socially... The students, faculty and board members really stepped up and took that on as a mission.” Again and again, the Mayor underscored one point: “[The Fort Wayne campus was] more than just a college.”

The work in the city was a direct result of students’ and faculty’s fervor for Christ. Sharon’s fellow students were “very passionate about their inner-city work—bringing Jesus to the outcasts instead of expecting the outcasts to show up at church.”

Meghan, who purchased a house in the inner-city and works with World Relief assisting settling refugees, speaks passionately about her ability to minister to the inner city as she has lived among the Burmese refugees. “They see you’re a different kind of Christian when you’re willing to get your hands dirty and are willing to live like them and get out of your comfort zone and your socio-economic zone.”

Mayor Henry also said the Fort Wayne campus “brought ... a Christian atmosphere that not every college can offer. [The Fort Wayne campus] had that as part of its foundation. You heard it, and you witnessed it. Not every college can say that.”

After the announcement of the closure of the campus, the Mayor’s office was flooded with letters, e-mails, and phone calls expressing concern over who would fill the school’s void. “Whether the [faculty, students, and alumni were] ever told ... that they had such a positive effect on our community, I can tell you now that they did.”

Embracing Tree...

The campus has spread its boughs of Christian love and service beyond the limits of Fort Wayne.

Originally from Hawaii, Sharon was surrounded by Fort Wayne alumni long before she was a student in Fort Wayne.

“When I looked around the Missionary Church Hawaii District, many, if not most, of the leaders studied at [the Fort Wayne campus],” said Sharon. “If it was good enough for them, I figured it was good enough for me.”

Since attending the Fort Wayne campus and discovering her call to service through missions, Sharon has spurred on others in their passion for Christ. “In America,” Sharon elaborated, “that means I enjoy building vision in others for service through example and direct ministry, like missions conferences....I also want others to see that serving Jesus is exciting, fulfilling, and rewarding.”

The Rev. Gary Aupperle g79 came to Fort Wayne through the Bible Quizzing program of the Missionary Church. “My experience at FWBC only intensified my love for the Scriptures,” Aupperle said. Decades after graduation, he came back to TUFW and actually taught a course on “Variety In Preaching.” “What a blessing to have the opportunity to pour your life into a group of men and women who are committed to going out and changing their world for Christ,” Aupperle emphasized.

In more recent years, as the curriculum expanded beyond “traditional” ministry majors, students studied to be social workers, business men and women, and professional writers.

Kate (Schmelzer) Gutierrez g08, who as a student had her work appear in many publications including Ignite Your Faith and Brio, had two signed book contracts before graduating. Through writing, her passion for Christ has been able to reach across the nation.

Over the years, Kate received several letters regarding her faith-focused articles, reviews, and devotions. One of her favorite letters came from a young woman who, inspired by Kate’s article, decided to begin an accountability group. Another came from a father struggling to communicate with his daughter over a tough issue. “He found and read one of my articles, sent it to his daughter, and they began talking,” Kate said.

“I love writing because my words have the ability to go to places I will never visit and touch people I will never meet,” she said. “Words have the power to not only encourage but also mend and, through God, heal.”

Kate is not the only Fort Wayne graduate who has ministered through Christian literature. Cyril recalled another alumnus, the Rev. Paul Robbins g60, who served Christianity Today as vice-president, president and publisher for a total of 30 years.

A Living Forest...

The influence of the Fort Wayne campus has spread beyond the nation. Faithful graduates have traveled around the world, planting orchards of faith along the way.

Two graduates, of thousands, who studied missions at the Fort Wayne campus, were Art g45 and Gladys Reifel g45, who left for Nigeria after graduation. When they arrived in the Kamberi village, as told in Gladys’ book, “God Gives the Increase,” they learned there were only four Christians out of 60,000 people. One was a leper who was so crippled he could barely walk, two others were a couple who lived in another village and one was a young man.

From that humble beginning, the Reifels planted a church and school with over 1,000 attending today. Thousands have come to Christ and hundreds of churches have been planted through the work of two humble servants, who were committed to planting seeds.

Just as God moved the Reifels to serve in a foreign country, the Lord directed Sharon Ayabe to a variety of locations across the globe.

Sharon’s missionary work has taken her from Ecuador to Kyrgyzstan, from Thailand to the Middle East. She eventually became a medical doctor, choosing to specialize in family medicine because she believed it would better equip her for working overseas. Initially, Sharon planned to serve as a short-term missionary every two years. God, however, had bigger plans.

“As my awareness of the needs overseas grew, I began going every year,” Sharon said. “My need for material things kept shrinking as I saw true physical and spiritual poverty.”

Last year, Sharon ministered in a remote region of a Muslim country where persecution of Christians is a dark reality. Sharon was unexpectedly thrust into the position of sharing her faith with several hundred Muslim youth.

“I was able to share about God’s love for them and their need to pursue God, service, peace and unity,” Sharon said. “I was literally shaking as I shared because saying the wrong thing might mean grave harm.” Instead of harm, however, she found Christ’s words received. Throughout her message, Sharon was even interrupted by clapping and cheers.

“It was at [the Fort Wayne campus that] I first had the chance to speak in a large audience setting during chapel services,” said Sharon. “And, it was there that I first realized I would like to speak about God’s love to large groups of people.” God has since led her to share God’s love all over the world.

As Jesus sent out his disciples in Luke 9, thousands of Fort Wayne campus alumni have been sent out as well to reap a harvest.

An Eternal Planting...

The testimonies of these few Christ-followers are but a clipping of the fruitful vine God tended through the Fort Wayne campus. Empowered by God’s faithfulness and guidance, the school dispersed the seeds of God’s love and word around the world.

The passion the students and former faculty have for the Gospel will continue to flourish and grow, carried into fresh fields by the wind of God’s guidance and nourished by the abundant showers of His love.

Reflections from Past Fort Wayne Leaders

Dr. Timothy Warner, President FWBC 1971 - 1980

My introduction to Fort Wayne Bible College was not as a student, staff member or professor, but as a plasterer. I was a student at Taylor in Upland in 1948 when I began dating a fellow student—the daughter of the president of FWBC. She discovered that I had learned my father's trade of plastering—well, at least the basics of that trade, and she told her father, Dr. S.A. Witmer. He asked if I would come to Fort Wayne and do some plaster patching. The “simple patches” they showed me were far from simple, but I ultimately did patching in Schultz, Bethany, and Founders and then plastered the inside of the new entrance of Schultz. After graduation from Taylor, I married Dr. Witmer's daughter, and after graduation from seminary, my father-in-law invited me to come to FWBC as a teacher.

Dr. Donald Gerig, President of FWBC & SCC 1986-1992

Memories of Fort Wayne days revolve around the phrase, “Kingdom of God.” We remember faculty and staff who weren't at their jobs for money or movement up some academic ladder, but because they loved the Lord and His work and wanted to instill that same love in those of us who were students. We remember students who went on to accomplish great feats . . . perhaps not in medicine or law or science, but in touching lives with the love of Jesus around the world. What touched us deeply was to return to the school in the mid-80's and find that same Kingdom mentality alive and well. It was a new generation of students, faculty and staff, but the same love for God and His work that permeated the place. It is encouraging to know that seeds from this “vine of God's own planting” are still sprouting all over the world. For that we praise God!

Dr. Kenneth D. Swan, Vice President TUFW 1992-1993

When Summit Christian College became TUFW, I was privileged to serve as vice president. The central task was to make the necessary changes with a sense of purpose and expediency and yet honor the traditions and values of two great Christian colleges. I was blessed with a faculty and staff at TUFW who believed whole-heartedly in Christ-centered education, enhanced with commitment, sacrifice, and a deep sense of calling. I could not have asked for more cooperation and goodwill. With all the challenges, I was always deeply impressed with the Christian spirit and biblical values. The students, too, under trying circumstances, worked with fortitude to the changes.

I salute you, a divinely-called mission, which over the years taught generations of students. Reflect on the seeds you planted which bore spiritual fruit in the lives of thousands who served the Lord, in various capacities, as ministers of the gospel, missionaries and teachers.

Dr. Robert Nienhuis, Vice President/Chief Administrative Officer of TUFW 1993-1998

As I think back on our five years at TUFW, there are several words that immediately come to mind. The first is GOD. The students we came to know and love during those years were students who loved God and had a serious desire to serve and honor Him. The second word is COMMUNITY. We worshiped together, ate together, laughed together and, at times, cried together. But we were together; we were a community. The third word is JOY. What a joy it was to serve this campus and to engage with the faculty and students who made it special. The final word is MEMORIES. Bette Jo and I have so many wonderful memories of people, of rich and meaningful conversations and ministry, and of shared life and activities. God is good, and we give him thanks for our time at TUFW.

Dr. Duane Kilty, Chancellor of TUFW 2006-2008

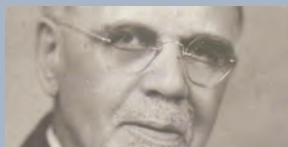

I was part of TUFW for only two and a half years, but in that short time I was grafted into the family and the long, faithful heritage of the campus. During my career, I have never felt more loved and accepted by students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends than I did at TUFW. Nor have I been associated with a group of people more willing to chase after a vision.

The faculty and staff invested themselves fully in the lives of students, which produced men and women who were well equipped for their vocations and aware of social justice issues. I was happiest when I was sharing stories of students' lives that were changed.

Whether worshipping, speaking in chapel or eating with students in the dining commons, all of my best memories revolve around the people of TUFW. For that reason, I will never forget my time in Fort Wayne.

Char Binkley g65 addressing the Heritage Chapel

Nearly 1,200 alumni, former faculty and staff, and TUFW students gathered on campus together to celebrate our heritage May 8 and 9, for Heritage Weekend.

The weekend started with a special chapel, where Char Binkley g65 gave a talk entitled, "Let me call you a Doorknob" and the freshman class was inducted into the Alumni Association in front of a capacity-filled chapel at First Missionary Church. Following the chapel, events included a 50th class reunion for the Class of 1959, several "last lectures," Name that Tune and a celebration dinner honoring alumni and friends of the campus.

On Saturday, after a breakfast with former faculty, staff, alumni and students, Michael Mortensen g91, then director of alumni and parent relations, and Joy Gerig, former Christian Service Director; g52 and 66, led a "Service of Reflection" that included special music from Dr. Ken Mays g60, a devotional from Joy, and several testimonies of the impact of the Fort Wayne campus.

The rest of the day included times in the archives, class reunions, a hymn sing, old Fort Wayne films, a Soccer reunion game, and then the Athletic Hall of Fame, where the second class was inducted. To conclude the weekend, a bonfire and time of singing was led by the students in the Hausser Woods.

Alumni Award Winners

Char Binkley g65 – Legion of Honor

Char lives by the motto, “With obedience to God and integrity to people.” Char is the “real deal” in every area of her life.

Char became involved in the church from an early age, teaching Sunday school at age 12, then organizing and implementing a junior church program when she was 14. Her passion for reaching others and teaching has never wavered.

A graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College, she and her husband, Steve, married while they were still students. They have two married children and six grandchildren.

Char holds a bachelor’s degree from Fort Wayne Bible College, a master’s degree from Indiana University, and an honorary doctorate from Huntington University. She served as an elementary school teacher and then a college professor before beginning her radio career in 1976. Since then, her life has been focused on reaching others with the love of Jesus Christ via the air waves—first through the ministry of the WBCL Radio Network, which she directed for 21 years, and now as the founder of Remedy.fm, a positive internet station for teens.

Josh & Lindsey Arthur g01 - Distinguished Young Alumna for Personal Achievement

Joshua and Lindsey met and fell in love at Taylor University Fort Wayne. Joshua graduated with a bachelor of arts in biblical studies and pastoral ministries, and Lindsey earned a bachelor of arts in cross-cultural studies.

Today they use their passion and gifts to share God’s love and hope with Muncie, Indiana’s urban neighborhoods.

The couple founded the Neighborhood Restoration Group, Inc. as a means of rehabilitating Muncie’s financially needy areas. They began In & Out Cleaning Services, a cleaning company which provides its employees—those in the urban neighborhoods and a handful of men from the mission—with income, counseling and health care benefits. They also launched the Urban Life Community Church and are “committed to racial diversity and indigenous leadership.”

Lindsey is the Executive Director of the Greater Muncie Area’s Habitat for Humanity and is passionate about bringing families “dignity, hope, and God through an affordable and safe place to call home.” Joshua is currently examining the possibility of starting a project which would provide clean drinking water to residents of the Guatemalan Highlands.

Lindsey and Josh live in Muncie with their two children, Lillian Grace (4) and Lincoln Paul (3).

Erica (Williams) Hanson g03 - Distinguished Young Alumna for Professional Achievement

Erica was the first female to complete the professional writing major at TUFW.

During her four years at TUFW, she helped found the TUFW literary magazine Calliope and served two years as editor, while also serving as a liaison with the Upland campus magazine Parnassus. While only a sophomore, Erica was a finalist in the national short story contest sponsored by Writer’s Journal magazine, and her reviews and freelance articles were published in numerous national publications.

Following graduation, amidst getting married and having a child, Erica still found time to work as a newspaper reporter for a Midwestern tabloid and then later as a communications director for the Salvation Army.

Her joyous outlook on life, her obvious Christian testimony and her success as a wife, mother, and professional writer have made Erica a stellar graduate of TUFW.

Dr. Paul Erdel g48 and g50 - Distinguished Alumnus for Personal Achievement

Dr. Erdel has been a missionary to Ecuador, an educator and a life-long servant leader. Paul graduated twice from Fort Wayne Bible Institute, then from Taylor University, later earning graduate degrees in education and missiology.

Paul’s ministry in Ecuador spanned from 1953 to 1997. There he saw three churches grow to more than 60, founded a school and a seminary, promoted rural evangelism and gave oversight to the Missionary Church in Ecuador.

Paul was invited to speak at the great centennial celebration (1896-1996) of Evangelical Protestants in Ecuador—the only foreign missionary to be so recognized. He considers it “the greatest honor of my life” that he was also named as one of the 30 founders (many deceased and most Ecuadorians) of the Evangelical movement in Ecuador.

Before going overseas, Paul had served concurrently as a pastor and school teacher, becoming an Indiana public school principal by age 23.

From 1965 to 1973, Paul led the global outreach known today as World Partners. Paul has been a visiting professor in four countries and remains active as a mentor to Hispanic pastors. Paul and his wife Chloetta (Egly) Erdel g46, g48 and g50 have four children: Timothy g73, David g81, John g80, and Ruth g85, all graduates of FWBC. Following Chloetta’s death, he married Ruth Shalanko, a missionary both to Ecuador and to Russian speaking peoples. Gaining two step-children: John and Lydia, Paul delights in his 15 grandchildren.

1944 - January 27

Funeral for J.E. Ramseyer.

1944

Rev. Jonas Ringenberg appointed Acting President.

Dr. Lee Underwood g86 - Distinguished Alumnus for Professional Achievement

Dr. Underwood has been an associate professor at Regent University since 2004. Throughout Dr. Underwood's youth, his parents emphasized uniting relationships and passion. That philosophy has carried Dr. Underwood through his life and development as a Christian, servant and professor.

After graduating from Fort Wayne Bible College, Dr. Underwood completed a master of arts in counseling and family services through Regent University. He then earned his doctorate in clinical psychology through Wright State University.

Dr. Underwood has a special passion for juveniles and has directed much of his energy toward examining and ministering in areas ranging from sexually aggressive youth to frequent and violent juvenile offenders. He has worked to educate others regarding suicide awareness and emergency response.

His position at Regent University is a great joy to Dr. Underwood, allowing him to mentor his students into "greatness." He has led courses such as Community Counseling and Child and Adolescent Psychotherapy, served as a chairperson on several doctoral dissertation projects and spent time as a visiting lecturer with the Caribbean Graduate School of Theological Studies in Jamaica.

He currently resides in Virginia Beach, Virginia, with his wife Dr. Christina Underwood, a child and adolescent psychologist. They have two children, Braxton and Brittanie.

Dr. Sharon Ayabe g86 - Distinguished Alumna for Personal Achievement

Dr. Ayabe, daughter of Harold g57 and Ann fs53-55, was first drawn to Fort Wayne Bible College by her yearning for God's Word and her love for His people. Her initial aim was to become a better youth director for the 100 teens she led at her home church in Hawaii.

God's plans were bigger, however. After graduating with a bachelor of science in biblical studies in 1986, Sharon began to minister with LIFE Ministries (now Asian Access) in Japan. She trained and supervised missionaries who taught English as a means of church planting and growth.

Returning to Hawaii, Sharon finished her pre-medical studies, and then specialized in Family Medicine, believing it would better equip her for work overseas.

Sharon originally hoped to volunteer as a short-term missionary every two years. After seeing true spiritual and financial poverty overseas, Sharon's need for material things dwindled as her desire to share Christ's love grew. The frequency of her mission trips gradually increased. Sharon has gone five times this past year alone. Over the years, Sharon has spread the fragrance of Christ in nations such as Kyrgyzstan, Thailand, and Ecuador. In January, Sharon shared God's love with several hundred Muslim youth at a rally. Her love-inspired message drew clapping and cheers from her audience.

While in the States, Sharon speaks at and coordinates missions conferences with the aim of inspiring others to serve Christ. Sharon clarifies that her passion isn't just for missions; rather, it's for Christ. "My passion is to love Jesus more, love more like Jesus, and to help others know and love Him, too."

Dr. Jacqueline Carl g53 Distinguished Alumna for Service to TUFW

Dr. Carl left Fort Wayne Bible College with a degree in world missions. She later went on to earn her masters of science in education from Indiana University-Bloomington. She then completed a doctorate of education through the University of Michigan.

Graduation did not mark the end of Dr. Carl's involvement with the Fort Wayne campus, however. She served as president of the Fort Wayne Alumni Council. Devoted to the preservation of the school's history, Dr. Carl has spent innumerable hours working in the campus' archives. Dr. Carl has worked with class photos dating back to 1956. Her goal, both delicate and time-consuming, is the cleansing and restoration of each photograph. The process takes a minimum of three hours. Not surprisingly, many photos have sustained considerable damage and therefore take more time. In Jackie's words, the project requires "a lot of TLC."

The Fort Wayne Alumni Association is incredibly grateful for her devotion and time. "The items in the archives connect our heritage with who we are today," said former Alumni Relations Assistant, Tami Solak. Without the diligent efforts of Dr. Carl and others like her, much of that heritage might be lost.

In addition to her work in the Fort Wayne archives, Dr. Carl headed the senior ministries at Brookside Church. Before stepping down from this role, her work included teaching computer classes for seniors and even community-wide. She is an active member of an honorary society for women educators, the Delta Kappa Gamma Society.

The next Athletic Hall of Fame induction is tentatively scheduled for September 25, 2010.

Class of 2009

Deb Rupp g76, Betty (Rychener) Rahrer g87, Cindy (Sauder) Kimm g 85, Sarita Rubrake g92, Joan (Ronde) Smith g85, Bud Hamilton g68, Ray Hylton g86, Peter Strubhar g74 were inducted into the athletic hall of fame.

1984-1985 WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM

Known as "the best volleyball team the Fort Wayne campus ever had," the 1984-85 Falcons dominated with a sweeping record of 26-1, losing only to Bethel College, who they defeated in a later game. Under the leadership of Coach Deb Rupp g76, the team went on to the National Christian College Athlete Association's (NCCAA) District Tournament. The team included: Denise Hogleund g85, Joyce (Klay) Hutchison g87, Tami (Platter) Burritt g88, Betty (Rychener) Rahrer g87, Cindy (Sauder) Kimm g85, Lori Hebert g85, Pam (Postel) Werling g85, Joan (Ronde) Smith g85, and Janna (Schlatter) Worthman g86 and managers Joyce Bell g88 and Sarita Rubrake g92.

MARVIN "BUD" HAMILTON g68

Marvin "Bud" Hamilton came to Summit Christian College as the Christian Service Director, but quickly stepped into the roles of Men's Basketball Coach and Director of Athletics. Under Coach Hamilton's leadership, the Falcons became a force in the United States Collegiate Athletic Association. In 2005-06, the Falcons went 30-3, winning the USCAA National Championship and Hamilton was named USCAA National Coach of the Year. The Falcons again made it to the National Championship game in 2008, but left as runners-up. Prior to the Falcons' entrance into the USCAA in 2000, Coach Hamilton was recognized as the NCCAA Regional Coach of the Year twice. He ended his career with 282 victories at TUFW.

RAYMOND ("RAY") IAN EUGENE HYLTON g86

When Ray Hylton left his home in Jamaica to study at FWBC, he never dreamed he would become a varsity athlete much less the school's first two-sport All-American.

Ray began his athletic career at FWBC with soccer. A stand-out on the field, he received NCCAC All-Conference and NCCAA All-District honors. As a junior, he and teammate Graham West became the first in FWBC history to receive NCCAA All-American team honors in soccer.

Ray added basketball (1981-1982) at the invitation of Coach Steve Morley. A raw talent, Ray received NCCAC All-Conference, NCCAA Division II All-District and NCCAA Division II All-Regional honors and was named the Falcon Tournament MVP, Falcon team MVP, and an NCCAA Division II All-American.

PETER JEREMY STRUBHAR g74

When Peter Strubhar joined a revitalized Falcon basketball team known for its determined defense, rabid rebounding, patient offense, balanced scoring, and selfless play, he quickly bought into the team philosophy. Nevertheless, fellow team members soon realized they had an unusually gifted scorer, leading to the affectionate nickname, "Pistol Pete."

During his four years at FWBC, Pete garnered numerous honors, including: Fort Wayne News Sentinel All-City, NCCAC All-Conference, NCCAC All-Tourney, Falcon Invitational All-Tourney, Bethel Invitational All-Tourney and Manchester Invitational All-Tourney teams as well as the MVP of the Falcon Invitational. Additionally, Pete was named to Outstanding College Athletes of America. With his 2,128 career points Pete set a school record. He also pulled down 665 career rebounds.

Talk about secrets.

Throughout Rhoda Heindselman's g59 childhood, a tumor swelled in her brain. It wasn't discovered until Rhoda's freshman year at Fort Wayne Bible Institute.

As the fist-sized tumor exerted pressure on her optic nerves, Rhoda's sight decreased until she could no longer read. She also suffered frequent fainting spells.

"I [would see] all those spots," Rhoda said. "Then I would black out."

In March 1950, Rhoda underwent surgery. Many feared she'd never recover. "There were teachers who didn't expect to see me back at college," Rhoda said. Many of her physicians believed she'd never see again.

Days after her operation, however, Rhoda glimpsed snow through her hospital window. "It was quite an experience," Rhoda said. Her simple words throbbed with gratitude and awe.

God brought beauty from the ashes of Rhoda's tumor. Her Fort Wayne Bible College community warred for her in prayer. The recovery of her sight amazed her doctors. Her illness even inspired an uncle to seek God. "He hadn't been on his knees for a long time," Rhoda said, "But he prayed then."

Rhoda recovered and earned a bachelor of arts in music from the Bible College in 1959. Encouraged by her husband, she began work on a bachelors of science in Physics. Despite her husband's tragic death during her studies, Rhoda completed her degree in 1970. "He was afraid I wouldn't finish," Rhoda said. "But I did."

On the wings of God's faithfulness, Rhoda has overcome the trials she's faced. "It's been kind of a hard journey," she admits, "But you just keep trusting the Lord, and He takes care of you. I could never have made it through without Him."

Rhoda's faith is the source of her strength. She believes one must "learn how to keep on trusting the Lord to get you through. You just take life as it comes and...try to accomplish all that you can along the way."

She lived that philosophy by putting her numerous gifts to use. In addition to teaching Sunday school and playing the organ for her church, Rhoda worked on guided missiles and electronic warfare for the government.

Now in her eighties, Rhoda hopes to create a dude ranch similar to Crystal Peeks Youth Ranch in Oregon, a home for abused horses and a place of healing for troubled youth. After visiting one spring, Rhoda was inspired by the "tremendous healing for children and horses" the ranch offered.

"[The experience] really got me," Rhoda said. "I was taken with what could be done to help people...with their troubles. That's what I'm trying to get going now, the Lord willing."

Only God knows where He is leading Rhoda next. But His secret plans will doubtless bring healing and beauty to the lives she impacts. In His faithfulness and despite the hardships she's suffered, God has transformed Rhoda's journey into a beautiful mystery.

...keep trusting the Lord, and He takes care of you. I could never have made it through without Him.

Rhoda Heindselman g59 now lives in Poneto, IN on a farm she hopes to turn into a dude ranch for abused horses and troubled youth. Her email address is rheindselman@parlorcity.com.

First generation student gives thanks now as a teacher

Sari Harris g88 arrived at FWBC in 1983 intent on a degree in education. She believed God called her to be a teacher. After visiting the campus and being overwhelmed by the spirit of God in this place, she was eager to begin. She didn't know exactly what to expect since no one in her family had ever attended college. "I didn't even know you needed money to apply to go to college," Sari reflected, but she knew that this was the path God designed for her.

Sari realized the importance of the information she was learning.

"I know that many people have great college stories about late nights or sleeping through chapel or cutting classes. Those are always fun to hear- but I never got past the fact that what happened in those rooms was so essential to my life that I didn't want to miss it," said Sari. "The information and application and groundwork that God did through His Holy Spirit using the faculty here was so essential to my life. I did need to be here."

Following graduation, Sari worked for 15 years in public education in Indiana. Inevitably, a colleague, superintendent or parent at some point would ask this question, "What makes you so good at what you do?" "Where did you get your education?"

Without hesitation, Sari's answer was always the same.

"The foundation of my education began (at FWBC), where I learned all about life, my profession and how God could begin forming my worldview," she said. "It wasn't just the education classes that Dr. Weddle taught, important as they were. It was the Truth that I learned in all of my courses. Each of those courses laid a foundation of learning how to live life abundantly as God intends, which made it possible to be really good at my profession."

Sari's message during Heritage Weekend to the faculty who shaped her during those formative college years was a huge, "Thank you!" She continued:

"And if your intent was to teach God's Word in a manner that infiltrated all aspects of our lives, you did it.

If your mission was to provide a quality education that produced effective ministers of the gospel of Christ in every walk of life, mission accomplished.

If your desire was to inspire a generation of young people with your dedication and care, God has granted that desire.

If you are trusting us to pass on the Truth that we learned here 'to other faithful men,' that trust is not misplaced.

We have heard God's call reverberate in the halls of these buildings and echo in our hearts as we've listened to your words of wisdom."

Sari is currently teaching in the Enrichment Program in K-6th grade at Penn Christian Academy and also at Butler County Community College, both in Butler, PA. Her email is harriss_56@hotmail.com.

“Words of Thanks and Hope”

Reflecting on the first three years of her college experiences, Laurie Filson can see how God used countless circumstances and events to prepare her just enough for the next step.

Due to chronic health problems, Laurie spent her freshman and sophomore years at home earning an associate’s degree in professional writing with Taylor’s online 2 + 2 program—a successor of Fort Wayne Bible College’s correspondence studies.

By God’s grace, Laurie’s health shifted “just in time” for her to attend TUFW during her junior year to pursue a Bachelor of Arts degree in professional writing.

“After I arrived at TUFW, I quickly realized God had used those two years at home to carefully plant His passions in my own heart that would be zealously watered and given new growth here,” she said.

When students were told in October 2008 they had the remainder of the school year left at TUFW, Laurie began to realize how much the campus had the elements that together formed her “dream college.”

“I loved the contagious passion and vision for the lost, needy and the refugees that our leaders, professors and student body shared with us,” she said. “Even more, I loved how we have been given ways to get plugged into inner city outreach and ministry through our curriculum as well as outside of our classrooms.”

Getting involved in inner city ministries was one of those passions God gave Laurie while at home. But she didn’t know where to start or how to get involved; she didn’t even know what skills she had to be useful.

TUFW gave Laurie opportunities to be involved in the Fort Wayne community with Burmese refugees and inner city neighborhood kids as well as in the public school system. While earning her TESOL license (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages), Laurie loved teaching kids from countries like Mexico, Bermuda and Africa at South Wayne Elementary – just seven blocks behind her dorm.

“God challenged me with opportunities in which I felt His heartbeat and learned to love people not for who I wanted them to be, but to love them with Christ-love that sees past our imperfections,” she said.

Last summer Laurie’s dream to get involved in her own city of Indianapolis came true. She received the opportunity to complete her writing practicum with Life Centers (which used to be called the Crisis Pregnancy Center).

God used Laurie’s nine months at TUFW to make a lasting impact in her heart and life. God continues to give her new dreams, open new doors and develop in her new passions.

Laurie is thankful for the support, love and prayers for TUFW, where countless students have been impacted by the godly heritage alumni have left behind.

“Though I desperately wish I could have been here for two years instead of one, my life has been changed by feeling God’s active heartbeat on this campus,” said Laurie. “I wouldn’t trade that one-year for anything. It was an incredible experience and a time of preparation for yet the next step at Taylor in Upland. You know, I may as well have everything Taylor has to offer—online, Fort Wayne, Upland,” she laughed. “I’m excited to see what God is going to do next because we know that God will work all things together for good for those who love Him.”

The rest of the story...

MyTU experience has been intense both academically and spiritually. God is teaching me what it means to actively love Him with all my mind—whether it means focusing on a difficult and disliked course when I don’t feel like it, or meditating on Him when I awake, walk, eat, and study. It is very different from TUFW, but just as impactful. Laurie’s email is laurie_filson@tayloru.edu.

Eighty-nine nations either sent students to study at Fort Wayne, or became the ministry destination of graduates. A flag from 44 nations were represented as part of the processional.

- 1 What is happening with the Fort Wayne campus?

Since Spring 2009 University officials have engaged several constituencies to seek their input for the highest and best use of the historic location. The ideal scenario would include honoring the heritage of the campus, no compromise of the WBCL mission and ministry, complement the neighborhood, and serve the south side of Fort Wayne. There have been some expressions of interest in the campus. A final decision will require approval by the Board of Trustees.
- 2 How do I get transcripts?

Transcripts are available FREE for all alumni and former students of the Fort Wayne campus from the Taylor University Registrar's Office. For questions regarding transcript information or to check the status of your transcript request, please call 765.998.5129 or go to <http://www.taylor.edu/academics/registrar/transcripts.shtml>.
- 3 Will there be alumni events and programs for Fort Wayne campus alumni?

Yes! Your ideas and suggestions are always welcome at alumnifw@taylor.edu. In August, 20 alumni and friends went to Parkview Field in Fort Wayne to see the Tin Caps play. We had a pizza party at Ludlow Falls Camp in Ohio with Jeff '84 and Jean '84 Gerig hosting us. Reunions for various classes and another Athletic Hall of Fame dinner and induction ceremony is being planned.
- 4 How will I be included in the Taylor Alumni community?

Fort Wayne campus alumni are always welcome at Taylor events, programs and gatherings. The director of Fort Wayne Alumni and Friend Relations works in full partnership with the Taylor Alumni Office and will gladly arrange for joint events if Fort Wayne alumni want to participate. Two members of our current Alumni Council, Dick Baxter, g70 and Tui Bedwell, g97 are members of the Taylor Alumni Council, helping us to forge a mutually beneficial relationship.
- 5 Where will my money go if I want to send a gift?

Your gift will go towards the fund you choose to designate. A Fort Wayne Alumni Fund has been set-up to assist with the expenses of operating Taylor's Fort Wayne Alumni and Friends Resource Center. Taylor is providing all of the funding for the Fort Wayne operations. Alumni can also support the Fort Wayne Alumni Endowed Scholarship Fund, which helps Taylor students, whose parents, grandparents or relatives are Fort Wayne campus alumni. Several other scholarships are also available for alumni to support. For more information, please contact Michael Mortensen at mcmortensen@taylor.edu or Sherri Harter at shharter@taylor.edu.
- 6 Who do I call or e-mail if I have a need or question?

Taylor's Fort Wayne Alumni Resource Center is the first place to call to inquire about programs, events or gatherings. Please call 260.744.8790 or email alumnifw@taylor.edu to update your address, e-mail, phone or submit information for News Notes. If you need a transcript, please call 765.998.5129 or go to <http://www.taylor.edu/academics/registrar/transcripts.shtml>.

7 How can I volunteer?

Multiple ways:

Serve at the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center answering the phone, identifying class members and faculty in pictures, scanning pictures, stuffing envelopes, etc. If interested in giving time during the week consistently or just occasionally, contact Kari Reynolds at 260.744.8790 or e-mail krreynolds@taylor.edu.

Host a gathering or event in your area of the country.

Host a class reunion. The Class of 1960 has scheduled their 50th class reunion August 27 and 28, 2010. The Athletic Hall of Fame Committee has scheduled their next induction dinner for September 25, 2010, and the Class of 1961 will have their 50th class reunion in Fort Wayne on September 23 and 24, 2011." For more information, contact Michael Mortensen at 260.744.8790 or e-mail mcmortensen@taylor.edu.

8 What tools can I use to connect with other Fort Wayne campus alumni?

As with volunteering, there are multiple ways to connect with other Fort Wayne alumni:

Ask for your own user name and password to access my.taylor.edu, which features an online directory of Fort Wayne and Upland alumni.

Make sure the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center has your e-mail address. We plan to send monthly updates on the latest news and information.

Fort Wayne alumni are connected through several Fort Wayne campus related Facebook pages.

9 What is happening with the archives?

Volunteers have given more than 2,000 hours in moving boxes of photos, cassettes, documents, plaques, trophies, reel-to-reel tapes and more to the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center. Once here, they have set up a working area to identify, sort and scan the items. The intention is to make these items available through a password protected Website in the future that is searchable. This will require thousands more hours from volunteers. At this point, we have many of the Christian Service/Gospel Team performing groups selections digitized, so it may not be long before alumni can listen to the Ambassadors, Collegians, Trumpet Trio and the list goes on. If you have a recording either on reel-to-reel or cassette, the archives would appreciate receiving it, so it can be digitized and placed on a CD and on the Web for others to enjoy. Contact Dr. Jay Platte at jay@platte.name.

10 What is going to happen to WBCL?

WBCL continues to be the radio ministry of Taylor University. No current plans are in place to move the studio or change the focus, as it continues to touch lives throughout Indiana, Michigan and Ohio and throughout the world at wbcl.org.

Responding to the Fort Wayne Alumni Council's recommendation to continue alumni relations beyond the May 31 discontinuation of the TUFW undergraduate program, Taylor University is pleased to announce the creation of the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center.

Michael D. Mortensen g91, former Director of Alumni & Parent Relations, is serving as the Director of Fort Wayne Alumni & Friend Relations, and Kari Reynolds g99 has been hired as the part-time assistant.

"Kari and I are thrilled to be here to serve. The feedback from Fort Wayne alumni and friends from around the world has been very gratifying," Michael said. "We are so grateful for the 50 volunteers who are serving with us to help us move forward."

In their roles, Michael and Kari communicate and care for Fort Wayne campus alumni for the purpose of preserving the legacy of Christ-centered education received on the Fort Wayne campus. Michael is giving time to alumni relations, community relations and donor relations. Michael and Kari currently work from Brown Gables, but will move June 1, 2010 to the Lillian Rolf Home, 915 W. Rudisll Blvd, immediately east of Witmer Hall, due to zoning limitations.

"It would be hard to find someone to match Michael's passion for Fort Wayne alumni," Sherri Harter, associate vice president for development, said. "He served the Fort Wayne campus faithfully for the past 12 years, and I am glad he is part of the transition we are going through. It has been remarkable what he and the volunteers have accomplished since June 1."

"Kari's heart epitomizes what we are striving to do for Fort Wayne campus alumni," Mortensen said. "Kari continues the strong tradition of the Reynolds family serving Fort Wayne alumni well," Harter added.

Since June 1, the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center has hosted family reunions, and small gatherings for alumni, church and not-for-profit organizations, who use the conference rooms, computers and office equipment without charge.

If interested in a personal day retreat or to request use of the Fort Wayne Alumni & Friends Resource Center, please email alumnifw@taylor.edu or call 260.744.8790.

Angelo g08 and Marie fs08 Mante who recently moved to Atlanta, wrote the following: "We are now officially residents of Atlanta, GA! Our move occurred a week earlier than we had anticipated because Marie was offered a job that wanted her to start yesterday. The place we are living in is a two story carriage house that is split into two apartments. We are living on the second floor, and we were pleased to discover that an Atlanta city cop lives on the first floor. There were some additional facts about our police officer neighbor that we were, to say the least, shocked to discover. He was born and raised (no joke) in a little known Midwestern town called "Fort Wayne," he graduated from Wayne High School (where I went to school), AND he went to Taylor Fort Wayne for a year back in the 90s. When I found all of this out, my jaw hit the floor. In a city of more than 5,000,000 people, located more than 600 miles from home, we just "happen" to be sharing a house with someone whose history crosses paths so intimately with ours. I don't know what this means, but I do not take it as coincidence. If nothing else, I take it as God letting us know that we are exactly where He wants us to be. Our journey so far has been nothing short of amazing, and I'm sure that He'll continue to put us in awe. For your records, our new address is as follows: 333 Eastland Dr. Decatur, GA 30030."

Resurrected: Fort Wayne Archives Brought Back to Life through 21st Century Technology

Fort Wayne campus alumni will soon have a new tool to keep them connected to each other and the campus' history. Volunteers are in the process of digitizing the archives and placing them in an online database where alumni can view or listen to them. The online archiving system will make thousands of photos, documents, videos and audio recordings accessible to alumni for research and personal use.

"The vision for this project arises from a desire by the Alumni Resource Center to continue to serve our alumni and to create a place where alumni can return to reminisce, reflect and reconnect virtually anywhere and anytime," Michael Mortensen, director of Fort Wayne Alumni & Friend Relations explained.

"This is the easiest way to serve the greatest number of alumni," said Kari Reynolds g99, who is coordinating the project along with Dr. Jay Platte g69. "This online home can serve as a touchstone, so that TUFW can continue on – albeit quite differently from what we are used to."

The website will launch by Spring 2010, but its content will continue to grow as volunteers identify, digitize and upload more archived items. According to Kari, the website will eventually contain photos and documents pertaining to campus buildings, faculty, staff, past presidents and vice presidents, alumni from every decade, historical events, and athletics.

"You might see Dr. Wes (Gerig) utilizing his overhead projector, the deed for the Wiebke property being handed to campus administrators or a video of a campus event or program," said Kari.

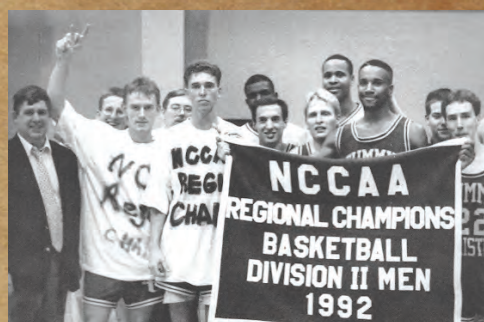

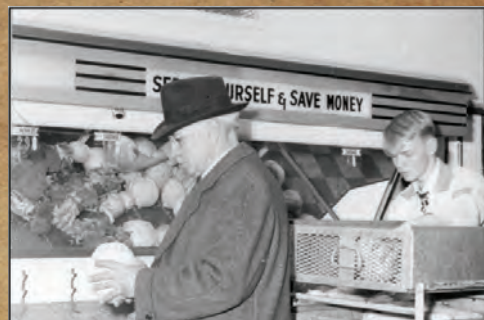

Through the efforts of Dr. Jay Platte, VHS video and audio recordings are being digitized to be added to the website as well. Alumni will be able to listen to old Chorale recordings or even symphonies written by former professor Dr. Rene Frank through their computer speakers.

Although Dr. Platte and Kari have spearheaded the effort, Dr. Jackie Carl g53, Cyril Eicher g32, Pam Dykehouse fs09, Mary Weidner g59, Dick Baxter g70, John Garner g69, Jane Janovyak h09, Joy Gerig g52 & g66, Joyce Gerig fs61, Larry Heidelberg g67, Janice Young g83, Cliff Pappé g00 and Ruth Elder h09 have contributed many hours to the project as well. Taylor's University Relations and Marketing department has also been instrumental in providing web design and coding necessary.

There's still much work to be done. Dr. Platte estimates that less than 25 percent of the audio recordings have been digitized, and the percentage is even smaller for photos. More volunteer help is needed.

"We need a lot of alumni to help us with this. We've only really scratched the surface," said Dr. Platte.

"What's driving this for me is the fact that this was a very special part of the life of the City of Fort Wayne, the life of the Missionary Church Association and overall for the kingdom of God, and I would like to make things available that will show the sacrifice, commitment and faith of the people who have worked here," said Dr. Platte. "I have been challenged and inspired by what I've been listening to even though some of it is 60 - 70 years old. It shouldn't be forgotten. The collection of photos, recordings, videos and documents are something that needs to be preserved – not as an idol, but as a tribute to honor God and all these people who have done such an incredible job with so little."
